THIRD EYE CENTRE EXHIBITION PROGRAM
AND 40 NEW BRITISH ARTISTS

BY ANDREW NAIRNE
EXHIBITIONS DIRECTOR
THIRD EYE CENTRE, GLASGOW, SCOTLAND

The Third Eye Centre, Glasgow, Scotland presents 'new developments in the visual and performing arts' It exhibits new work from Scottish, UK and international artists. It is recognised for playing a significant role in introducing new art, especially from countries in Central and Eastern Europe, to Britain.

As Exhibitions Director, Andrew Nairne is responsible for the programming of the Third Eye Centre's exhibition galleries. He has been involved in initiating and programming exhibitions at the Third Eye Centre, and most recently participated in the selection of art works for the 1990 British Art Show. He also recently published a catalogue for an exhibition of Steven Campbell's work which toured to New North, the Tate Gallery and Liverpool in 1990.

Andrew Nairne will present a slide lecture at the Australian Centre for Contemporary Art on Tuesday 12 March, at 7.00 p.m. His lecture will be divided into two sections. Firstly, he will outline and discuss the Third Eye Exhibition Program. The second section will be a slide presentation and discussion of 40 New British Artists.

Andrew is currently visiting Australian as part of an Overseas Visitors Program initiated by the Visual Arts/Craft Board of the Australia Council. His visit is funded by the Visual Arts/Craft Board of the Australian Council and the British Council.
